QUESTION DEBATED IN CITY COUNCIL

Aldermen's Motion to Wipe Out All Restrictive Ordinances Is Tabled

A motion by Alderman A. U. G. Bury, to the effect that all clauses relating to early closing be stricken out of the city charter, was made in the course of a discussion on a petition submitted by a group of North Edmonton storekeepers, asking for permission to keep their stores open after six o'clock on Saturday night.

Mr. Bury's motion was strongly opposed by Aldermen Rios, Sheppard, James, East, and was finally dropped by the Mayor, who was supported by Alderman Hays.

The petition, signed by a dozen North Edmonton storekeepers, was received by the mayor, asking for permission to keep their stores open after six o'clock on Saturday night.

It is acknowledged that many stores have been closed at the early closing hour, and that the result of the present financial conditions of the city, and the reduction of the city's revenue, has been a serious one.

At the start of the discussion, Mr. Yorath had volunteered his willingness to take a cut of five per cent in common with the other civic employees.

On a motion by Alderman East, the matter finally was referred back to the committee.

Lone Trail Adventurer Held Soldier Under Two Flags Meets Chums Here

James McCrory, Friend of Generals and Railroaders; Hunter, Soldier and Man of Parts, Foregoes with the Fals of Other Days

Veteran of the Spanish-American war and the Great War, well-known in the country and in logging and mining circles from the Gulf to the Atlantic, James McCrory is back in Edmonton, his thirty-sixth year, and ever ready smile all very much to the fore, no matter how far removed the woodland man from the front office of "Lone Trail" is.

He has been living in the woods westward of Rocky Mountain House all winter, and has just "blown in" for a little recreation prior to returning once more to his native habitat. Though great of stature, James has only about a foot and a half, thereby giving a tale.

He was cutting down during the winter for the river steamer which he has been building. He was being situated near Fort Norman, but from both his feet. He managed to reach his cabin where, for three weeks or more—he was semi-conscious most of the time—lay in agony.

One foot developed phlegm, which started to spread over the major portion of his body. He knew that if it were not for the fact that he was in the hospital, he would have died.

DOWN OF SON CAUSE OF CONDITION

Former Treasurer Explains Affairs of Co-operative Creameries

EDMONTON, March 6.—(Special.)—The explanation for the condition of affairs with the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries was today given by C. A. Pagnall, former treasurer to a special board of directors of the former co-operative. Mr. Pagnall, who was treasurer for the period of the co-operative's existence, gave a detailed account of the financial condition of the co-operative, which was the result of the failure of the co-operative to obtain the necessary capital for the purchase of the land on which the co-operative was to be established. Mr. Pagnall stated that the co-operative was organized in 1912, and that it was the intention of the co-operative to purchase the land on which the co-operative was to be established. However, the co-operative was unable to obtain the necessary capital for the purchase of the land, and as a result, the co-operative was unable to carry out its plan. However, the co-operative was unable to obtain the necessary capital for the purchase of the land, and as a result, the co-operative was unable to carry out its plan.

The missing book. Mr. Pagnall could not throw any light on the mystery of the missing book. He stated that the book was a copy of the co-operative's constitution, and that it was the intention of the co-operative to purchase the land on which the co-operative was to be established. However, the co-operative was unable to obtain the necessary capital for the purchase of the land, and as a result, the co-operative was unable to carry out its plan.
